

Santa Maria

Clean and light, this stunning water feature is composed of three clear glass panels, within a frame-less design that is approximately 10 1/2 ft. wide and 9 1/2 ft. tall. Water appears to flow through the ceiling from the floor above and disappears into a bed of river rocks below. The water wall is located in a hotel lobby and acts as a gentle divider between the lounge sitting area and the hotel restaurant. The gaps between the glass panels allow for the feature to provide this division, but maintain an open and airy feeling throughout the large space.

Type

Water wall in a hotel lounge area

Materials

low-iron glass, stainless steel frame

Location

Key West, FL

Interior designer

Sculptors of Space