

The Somerset on Grace Bay

Standing 7 ft. tall and 16 ft. wide, this custom water veil borders a resort garden on Turks & Caicos. The veil is comprised of four panels of stainless steel screen with a contrasting copper with bronze patina frame. Water glides down the stainless steel screen into a hidden basin, covered with polished river rocks. The flowing water offers guests a pleasant visual and auditory backdrop to the lush garden space.

Type

Water Veil in a resort garden

Materials

stainless steel screen, copper with bronze patina frame

Location

Turks & Caicos Islands

Architect

RBS Architects & Town Planners