

USC Health Sciences

The water feature is composed of two water walls, each 15 ft. wide by 9 ft. tall, crafted of five vertical granite panels of varying widths and textures. The panels are ordered in stepped-fashion to systematically decrease in both thickness and in width, until both walls meet at a 90° angle.

Type

Water wall in a medical center courtyard

Materials

smooth and ridged absolute black granite

Location

Los Angeles, CA

Architect

RBB Architects