

Water Museum

Commissioned by the Water Museum in Shimane, Japan. Approximately 16 ft. in diameter, the ring is crafted of polished black granite faces and curved copper channels along which the water flows. Water adheres to the outer and inner surfaces of the ring, which appears to float on top of the water surrounding it.

TYPE
Exterior Water Sculpture

MATERIALS
Granite, copper

LOCATION
Shimane, Japan