

Playa Vista Mason

These three large rectangular reflecting pools set below the adjacent sidewalk, welcome guests and residents to the courtyard entryway of the Mason residence in Playa Vista, California. Made of concrete and river stone, the design incorporates a classic, yet simple design, which allows the size of the project to not overwhelm the space. Each pool has illuminated nozzles that provide interesting water effects, as well as soothing water sounds, similar to a babbling brook, that assist in producing a relaxing outdoor common area.
