

Woodacres Residence

Two curved water sculptures adorn the entryway of a residence in Santa Monica, CA. The curvature of the intertwined water sculpture mirrors the circular layout of the driveway, as well as the round base that's filled with polished black river rocks. The water feature is made of stainless steel, contrasting ridged and smooth copper with bronze patina, which creates rich and interesting patterns as the water streams down the sculptures.

TYPE
Exterior Water Sculpture

MATERIALS
Copper, stainless steel, beach pebbles

LOCATION
Santa Monica, CA

ARCHITECT
Vertoch Design