

Empire West Office Complex

This impressive water feature creates a tranquil courtyard setting in the middle of the Empire West office entryway in West Hollywood, CA. Consisting of 3 separate stainless steel curved water walls, at varying heights, they work together to produce a cohesive water sculpture. Set inside a large reflective pool, the water cascades down in sheets, allowing light and color to intriguingly bounce around the building lobby. The water walls sit on a bed of polished river rocks, along with LED recessed lighting, that provide added interest to the overall focal point of this busy location.

Type
curved water walls

Materials
stainless steel, river rock

Location
West Hollywood, CA