

Bel Air Residence

Five curved copper structures of varying height and width surround a large flame located in the center of a shallow reflecting pool clad in granite. The outer surfaces of the curved structures are ridged to create cascading waves of water. Underwater lights and dancing fire on water illuminate the sculpture at night.

TYPE
Exterior Water/Fire Feature

MATERIALS
Copper, granite

LOCATION
Bel Air, CA

ARCHITECT
Landry Design Group