

Malibu Infinity Pool

A Bernar Venet sculpture appears to levitate atop an infinity pool inside a modern home in Malibu, CA. Standing in a courtyard surrounded by glass windows, the feature is the focal point of the outside patio, and can be seen from any point inside the house. Underwater lighting illuminates the sculpture, creating interesting reflections along the surface of the still pool as it seamlessly disappears along an infinity edge into a hidden pool below. The pool is level with the ground below, creating the visual effect of water extending infinitely or vanishing along the ground plane.
