

Ladd

The bold curved water veil greets visitors as they enter the lobby of a high-end residential building in Portland, Oregon. Water gently streams down the stainless steel screen, enclosed by a brushed stainless steel frame, creating interest and movement to an otherwise stagnant space. The custom water feature is approximately 25 ft. wide by 6 ft. tall and is illuminated by a series of underwater lights.

TYPE
Framed Water Veil

MATERIALS
Stainless steel

LOCATION
Portland, OR

ARCHITECT
Ankrom Moisan Architects