

Three Story Los Angeles Water Veil

Standing three stories tall, this water veil installation creates a dramatic arrival experience for a modern Los Angeles residence. Thirteen seamless water panels stretch across 46 ft., producing mesmerizing waves that can be seen from multiple levels and vantage points throughout the glass-framed home. Concealed linear LED fixtures illuminate the gently moving water from both above and below, enhancing its texture and motion. The continuous waves cascade into a clear acrylic pool at the base, accentuating the translucence and weightless character of the water veils.

Type
Frameless Water Veil

Material
Stainless steel

Location
Los Angeles, CA

Architect
McClean Design

General Contractor
Tyler Development